Data Structures Project 13

Note that adjacency matrix graph implementation in your book (section 11.2, fig. 11.6) does not provide means to actually create the graph. Implement 11.6 algorithm and extend it so that a user can read graph description from a file. This data can then be used by `setEdge` function to build the graph. Provide a main program that 'demos' different graph functions.